Mr. Kelly Rises to a Question of Personal Privilege—The Proceedings To-Day.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 29.—Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, rising to a question of personal privilege, denied the statement in a Boston paper that he said it would be the policy of the republicans of the house to obstruct the passage of any tariff measure before the meeting of the democratic national convention at St. Louis.

The committee of the whole considered the bill to purchase bonds with the surplus revenue. Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, contended that under the existing law the president might purchase or redeem the bonds and charged that his failure to do so was due to the desire to pile up the surplus in order to scare the country and break down the protective tariff.

Orders were issued here to-day for the discontinuance, after April 1, of signal service stations, at Erie, Pa.; Sandusky, Ohio; Escanaba, Mich., and Lodington, Ky. This action is caused by the depleted condition of the appropriation.

Superior Court.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

Two Hundred Engineers and Firemen Take the Places of the Burlington Strikers.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 29.—The Knights of Labor engineers of the Reading railroad have clearly outlined their policy. They will take the places of the Burlington strikers and will promise Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood to return to their homes if he calls his engineers off the Reading and Brooklyn elevated roads.

Five car loads of engineers and firemen passed through the city this morning en route to Chicago. Two hundred were in the party. Nearly all of them were Knights of Labor and mostly former employes of the Reading road.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—The entire suburban service of the Burlington road was in operation this morning. The fast mail west went out in good shape at 3 a. m. Arthur denies that negotiations are in progress with the railroads.

RECRUITING ENGINEERS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—The following advertisement is published in the papers here:

"WANTED:—A number of locomotive engineers to leave this city at once; transportation will be furnished; permanent employment guaranteed; bring papers and reference; only those willing to take places of Brotherhood men need apply. Applp at room 46, No. 61 Broadway."

Room 46, No. 61 Broadway, is the office of J. W. Hamilton, agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road. He refused to say anything about the advertisement or about his success in obtaining men. About a dozen engineers were waiting to apply for employment. One of them said: "They offer pretty good money—$115 to $147 a month—and a great many men have accepted positions and left the city.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—The superintendent of the railway mail service said this morning that all trains on the Burlington system were running all right in Nebraska, with the exception of the line from McCook to Denver. All trains are running in Illinois and Iowa.

MADE INSANE BY A JOKE.

Two Young Women Play the Ghost With Serious Consequences.

HILLSBORO, O., Feb. 29.—Six miles southeast of this place lives William Means, a wealthy farmer. The other evening the young folks of the neighborhood met there at a merrymaking. While the fun was at its height two mischief loving sisters named Stover, thinking only of a little additional sport, left the house and dressed up in ghostly fashion. They wrapped themselves in sheets, put on false faces made of dough, and then burst suddenly in upon the guests. Four young ladies fainted at the sight of the awful apparitions. Two were restored to consciousness without serious trouble, the two others, Misses Dora E. Atkins and Lizzie Chaney, were restored only to pass into a condition of frightful delirium, screaming and crying constantly. The physicians hold but slender hopes of the recovery of their reason.

COY AND BERNHEIMER.

The Application for a Writ of Error Overruled.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 29.—Justice Harlan decided the case of Coy and Bernheimer, convicted of conspiracy to induce election officers to surrender papers, sustaining Judge Woods of the district court.

Justice Harlan overruled the application for a writ of error and refused a new trial. The attorney for the defense is in Chicago and will make immediate application to Judge Gresham for a writ of habeas corpus.

Catawba Indians Want a Share.

CAVANAUGH, Ark., Feb. 29.—A meeting was held here on Saturday by the Western Indian association, the object being to get all persons of pure Indian blood to organize for the purpose of asking congress to set aside for their use a part of the Indian territory, according to the treaty of 1836. A memorial was drawn up setting forth their object, to be presented to each of the five civilized tribes.

A Dying Pauper's Wealth.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Feb. 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney was found in a hovel here yesterday in a dying condition. She was supposed to be a pauper, and had been kept by charities in this city for a number of years, but upon investigation $1,000 in money and notes was found upon her person, and memoranda showen her to be quite rich.

Suing a Treasurer for $17,000.

MARION, Ind., Feb. 29.—The case of the state ex rel., Israel Heaston, auditor of Huntington county, vs. ex-Treasurer Henry Beaver, on his official bond, was commenced here this morning. The amount in dispute is $17,000, which, it is alleged, Beaver failed to pay over to his successor.

The Fire Record.

SALOMANCA, N. Y., Feb. 29.—A fire this morning destroyed the Opera House block, the Nies block, Milenbacker's residence, the Challenge rink, a three-story brick building, Wm. Farquharren's residence and B. E. Tobias' residence. Loss about $75,000; insurance, $35,000.

BIGGER WAGES.

The Employes of the Pennsylvania Company are Granted a Ten Per Cent. Advance.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 29.—The management of the Pennsylvania company this morning replied to the request of the men for an increase of wages. The reply is to the effect that the pay of the employes of the Fort Wayne road and its branches, west of Alliance, is increased ten cents per trip. There is no increase on the Pittsburg division, but the men will be allowed overtime after nine hours.

The conductors will receive twenty-three cents per hour or a fraction thereof, and the brakemen fifteen cents per hour overtime.

CORCORAN'S WILL.

He Leaves His Large Estate to His Grand-Children and Charitable Institutions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The will of the late W. W. Corcoran was offered for probate to-day. The greater portion of his estate, valued at $3,000,000, was bequeathed to three grand-children, George P., Louise M. and William C. Eustis, to be held in trust for them for ten years. Several legacies of four and five thousand dollars are left to other relatives, and similar amounts to various orphan asylums in the district. One hundred thousand dollars is left to the Corcoran art gallery and $50,000 to the Louise home.

NOTORIOUS DUELIST.

The Death of Col. E. B. Cash, Who Killed Four Men in Duels.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 29.—Col. E. B. Cash, the duelist and "fire-eater," who killed Col. William M. Shannon, a prominent lawyer, in a duel in August, 1880, and who for days defied the entire power of the state to arrest him, died at his home in Chesterfield county, Saturday, of paralysis, aged sixty-six years. He was buried yesterday in the grounds adjoining the Cash mansion, beside the remains of his son, Boggan Cash, a young desperado, who was shot and killed by a sheriff's posse five years ago, while resisting arrest for the murdor of the town marshal of Cheraw.

Before the abolition of slavery Col. Cash owned large plantations and several hundred slaves. At the outbreak of the war he was one of the first in the field and commanded the Eighth South Carolina regiment at the first Manassas. He was a bold and desperate fighter. After the war he settled upon his land and planted. He was a great sporting man, and owned fine horses. He had a very quick temper and since the war had killed four men. Two of these were negroes, whom he killed for some slight provocation.

In 1880 Cash fought the duel with Colonel Shannon. The difficulty grew out of a quarrel between the ladies of the two families regarding the division of some property. Colonel Shannon, although an old man, accepted the challenge, and was shot through the heart. The people of the state condemned this duel so severely that shortly afterward the legislature passed the anti-dueling law, putting the duelist on the same footing with an ordinary murderer. The Cash-Shannon duel was therefore the last which will probably be fought in the state.

A Dazzling Hoosier Dude.

New York Morning Journal.

Young Paul Holman, son of the "great objector" congressman from Indiana, has succeeded Berry as king of the dudes—at this end of the line, at any rate. Mr. Holman's afternoon reception and "tea" attire presents a combination and scenic effect worthy of the gods. Imagine a short, heavy-set young man with dark hair, a ruddy face, a short sandy mustache, blue eyes, a sad, sentimental smile, a large, flaming red necktie, ornamented with a green Brazilian bug and crossed by a black watch cord; a low cut white vest, disclosing a short front of blue and white horizontal bars; a black cutaway coat, striped trousers, of breakfast bacon complexion; patent leather shoes, with cream-colored over-gaiters; tan-colored gloves, a large, curiously-headed cane, a silk hat, and you have the young Hoosier dude. Imagine again this to be the heir of the plain, blunt man known from ocean to ocean as the "Watch dog of the treasury." Great Paul.

Looking for His Mother.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 29.—James Burch, of Cincinnati, was here yesterday in search of his mother, Mrs. Martha Burch, of Cincinnati, who, with three other neices, is heir to $60,000, left by Amelia Wilmore, deceased. He says last Thursday his mother went to Covington, Ky., to take the train to Nicholasville, Ky., and has not been seen since. Mr. Burch thinks she has been foully dealt with. The will provides in the case of the death of a legatee the legacy be divided among the remainder. The names of the other legatees are Mrs. Fielding, Mark Danville, Mrs. Kate Cook, of Anderson county, and Mrs. Hightower, who has since died.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

Overpower an Express Messenger on a Texas Road and Rob the Car of $2,000.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 29.—It is reported that robbers, at 1 o'clock, this morning, overpowered the express messenger on the St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas train, at Kingsland, Ark., and robbed the car of $2,000.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 29.—A Pine Bluff special gives the particulars of the train robbery, at Kingsland. It was done by three men, who captured the engineer and fireman, compelled them to go to the express car and enter. The messenger was then compelled to open the safe. He said they got between $5,000 and $10,000.

DRIVEN OUT OF TOWN.

The Great Jenney Electric Light Works Crowded Out of Fort Wayne.

Ever since Fort Wayne was incorporated it has had to struggle for success and progress against some of its own people. We have given thousands of dollars to secure railroad shops, organized a Business Men's exchange to encourage new industries, the newspapers preach patronage for home merchants and business men the year around, and yet, in the face of these facts, ten councilmen deliberately voted last night to drive and crowd the great Jenney electric light works out of Fort Wayne and throw its 300 employes out of work.

The question arose in this way: The Jenney electric light company proposed a month or more ago to furnish street lights for $135 a lamp per annum.

The Duquesne electric light company, of Pittsburg, two weeks ago, offered to light the city for $125 per lamp. This was after the Jenney bid had been made public, and last night to further humiliate the Jenney company, they offerred to give the city street lamps for $115 each, charging, too, for the six lamps on the court house, that are now given to the city free by the Jenney company.

The whole country is wide for the Jenney and Duquesne companies to compete for electric light contracts, but the foreign company wants to kill the Jenney company at its home and can afford to do so at a loss, just for the advertisement of the thing. All this foreign company needs in Fort Wayne is a room for two engines, new wires and new poles, a night engineer and fireman, two line men and with this plant they want to drain thousands of dollars out of the city and send it to Pittsburg or wherever they belong, or have their material manufactured. None of them live here, none of them pay taxes here, and this is the magnificent reward we are to get for crowding the Jenney company out.

Mr. R. T. McDonald last night withdrew his bid from the council and tendered his resignation as manager of the company unless they remove to Peoria, where he is offered shops and sites and $50,000 bonus to pay the cost of removing the works.

Mr. McDonald left for Peoria this afternoon. He feels sore and justly so. He has labored hard to place the Jenney light all over the country. All their material is made here, all their money from other towns comes into Fort Wayne. Their business is always growing and their employes increasing. To show their light, they must bring visitors to their main shops in this city. What a compliment it would be to have strangers find Fort Wayne lit up with the Duquesne light? What an advertisement it would be for the Jenney company? Of course, they can stand no such treatment and will go where they are appreciated.

Besides losing the Jenney lights, we will lose the Star iron towers, because the home company alone has the right to use them.

Another thing is that the engines and iron appliances used by the Jenney company all over the United States are made at the Bass foundry in this city and workmen reap the benefits.

Mr. Louis Rastetter has been enabled, also, to increase the capacity of his factory, on Broadway, by receiving the wood work contracts from the Jenney company.

All of these advantages we lose through a mistaken idea of economy.

AN INDIGNATION MEETING.

At the request of Mr. Fred Eckert and other prominent citizens Mr. G. W. Seavy will call a meeting of the Business Men's Exchange for to-morrow night to express condemnation of the way in which the Jenney company has been treated.

Gold Found at Hartford City.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Feb. 29.—Yesterday the city was thrown into great excitement by the report that the drillers in gas well No. 4, situated in the edge of the city, had struck a vein of gold, which gave indications of growing richer as the drill penetrated the earth. The Indianapolis News correspondent examined a specimen of the ore through a glass and found it to be undoubtedly gold ore. Old 49er's here, who dug gold in California, bear out the statement. The work of drilling goes rapidly on, and further developments are awaited with patience.

Mr. W. S. Dodge has returned from a special run as chair car conductor on the Grand Rapids road.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

The Sentinel Scribe Skips Over His Route and Gathers the News Hurriedly.

The Pittsburg shop clerks have sent in their monthly reports for February.

The traveling auditor of the Wabash called on Ticket Agent J. M. McConnell yesterday.

There are 128 engines running on the Pittsburg road between Chicago and Crestline.

Herbert J. Law, of the Jenney Electric-light works, left for New Orleans last night.

The strike on the Burlington continues to be the topic of conversation in railroad circles.

H. E. Conkling, of Toledo, traveling agent of the Nickel Plate, was in the city last evening.

The Kunkle Safety-valve works are so rushed with work now that a night force is kept busy.

The machine shops of the Bass works are so rushed with work that they are still running a night force.

Mr. Charles Bulger, the pleasant shipping clerk at A. C. Trentman's, has returned from a trip to Chicago.

Several of the employes of the Pittsburg boiler shops are off duty, on account of sickness and other causes.

Will Seward, Charles Cherry and J. H. Hobroke, of the Pittsburg offices, report having had a jolly time at Chicago.

There is anxiety felt among the officials of the Pennsylvania company in reference to the rumors of a strike among their engineers.

The freight offices here have not taken any freight yesterday or to-day for points on the C., B. & Q., on account of the strike on that road.

A ventilator is being put in the upper room of the Pittsburg car shops. The heat is so oppressive the men can hardly enter the boiler rooms.

The Pittsburg works is the busiest manufacturing industry in the city and will be crowded with work during the whole of the present year.

The moulding rooms of the Bass foundry under charge of Foreman Frank Finke and Fred Myers were not in operation to-day and the employes enjoyed a vacation.

Some sneaking rascal stole the box of carpenter tools from the Wabash depot, belonging to Michael Huntine, of the pumping force. The box contained tools valued at $35.

The boys in the Pittsburg shops—many of them, at least,—take to dogs and guns. The latest on the list is Willis Anderson, who has become the owner of a valuable Newfoundland.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' auxilliary of the R. R. Y M. C. A., will be held at the parlors of the R. R. Dept., 245 Calhoun street, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, city time. A full attendance is desired.

The Pittsburg company have an employe here who is investigating the cause of the delay of some of the trains at this point. It is said the limited is kept here eight minutes when the time should be only five. The expert will find out where the fault is and it will probably be remedied.

Richard Bryant, the foreman of the core rooms at the Bass foundry, left to-day, for Rock Run, Ala., to spend a few weeks visiting his brother, William, who lives there. "Dick" will make a general tour of observation and give the boys a vivid description of the alligators that infest that region of the country when he returns.

Supt. Amsden, of the Lake Shore, denies the current reports that there was trouble brewing among the engineers of the Vanderbilt lines. Some time ago the pay of the engineers on the Chicago division was increased, the result of a peaceful conference, and since then—this was in November—there had been absolutely no jar or dissatisfaction in any direction.

"Express business is pretty lively," said Mr. J. N. Havens, the clerk at the Adams Express company's office, this morning, when a SENTINEL reporter accosted him; but that was not the cause of the smile that played around his lips as he answered the question. From another source we learned a sweet-faced little girl baby had arrived at his house, and this accounted for Mr. Havens' happiness.

General McNulta, of the Wabash, in reference to the strike on the Burlington road, said that the question was presented to him for settlement about six months ago. At first he was inclined to resist the demand, but upon further consideration, taking into view the conservative character of the Brotherhood and the fact that the question of classification had been discussed and passed upon in the national convention, and that the members were earnestly persuaded of the justice of their position, he had made the concessions asked. The general was somewhat annoyed at a report which had reached him that some Burlington official had declared that he was responsible in some unknown way for the trouble, and vigorously and unqualifiedly repudiated any such responsibility, even in the most remote manner.

The Wayne hotel will not be opened until Saturday. Its inaugural will be a gala one.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 29, 1888.

ATTENTION is drawn to the enormous increase in the number of rats in the cellars and sewers of Paris. The sewer men readily catch them alive as they crawl along the walls, and when the men come up into the street after a day's work, each has a rat with a string tied to its tail marching along the flags, followed by a regiment of volunteer dogs. The gamins fish the rats readily at the mouths of sewers, and, by skinning them while warm, can make five sous per dozen skins, which are ultimately converted into kid gloves for dolls and materials for toys.

ELECTRICITY is now being used in Paris to enable persons of wealth at select dinner parties to do without the waiter or the maitre d'hote. A miniature railway is laid down on the dinner-table and continued on the same level into the kitchen through an aperture in the wall and an intermediate pantry. Dishes come in, and, after making the round of the table, go out in a sort of small truck moved by electricity. The truck, at any moment, can be made to stop. It does its work admirably as a dumb waiter, and any amount of art may be lavished on it to give it artistic beauty.

A MOST peculiar case of superstition exists in York Township, Ohio. A well-known farmer named Milar has always kept a fine lot of cows and made a great deal of most excellent butter. Of late years he has had what he terms it, "Witches in the cream," giving himself and family a great deal of trouble and great loss. It happens about every two weeks when they put the cream in the churn it begins foaming over the top and refuses to gather. No amount of churning has any effect toward gathering the butter, and the cream is taken out and thrown far away. The family attributes the trouble to witches brought on through the agency of a woman in the neighborhood through spite. It is a strange case.

A SURVEYOR who was in the woods near Orlando, Fla., during a thunderstorm, took shelter under a tree, leaving his compass on a jack-staff, some two or three hundred yards away. During the storm a tree very near the compass was struck by lightning, and the effect upon the compass was to reverse it so as to make the north point of the needle change position and point south. The gentleman, when he went back to the compass, took a sight and started, as he thought, for home. After walking eight or ten miles, going north, as the compass indicated, he came to the house of an old settler, who, upon inquiry, told him where he was and how far from Orlando, and the proper direction, which, of course, was exactly opposite to that indicated by his compass.

ACTING CONSUL HORNSTEDT, of Moscow, has made a report to the Department of State in regard to an important invention recently patented by a Russian subject, and now being successfully worked in Russia. He says:

"The invention consists of a method to produce iron and steel direct from the ore. The whole secret of the process is in the construction of the furnace, which is simple and inexpensive. It will be difficult for our iron-masters to believe that under the new process iron ore, after submitting it to the ordinary smelting process, is taken direct from the furnace to the rolling-mill and turned into sheet iron; yet such is the case, there being, to my certain knowledge, three furnaces in this country now in full operation and working with great success. There can be but little doubt that this new invention will create a revolution in the manufacture of charcoal iron. Whether the process can be used with equal advantage where coke is the fuel I can not positively assert, as the furnaces I refer to are worked with charcoal. I am, however, assured that an experiment made with coke was crowned with equal success.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Blaine and the Republican Party.

The possibility of Blaine meant the ascendancy of daring, uncertainty, adventure, inventive genius, the policy of dazzling government by lightning flashes; pottering over Chili and Peru, and those lazy, half clothed, greasy communities near the Equator, who live on bananas, doze in the sand and think they are republics; governing by sensation, one surprise following another, and resulting either in marvelous triumphs or ignominious, irritrievable ruin. This was what we were to have in Blaine, and the fascination involved in such a policy of fancy and caprice, this wooden nutmeg Bonapartism, was among the sources of his strength. We shall have, on the contrary, in Republican policy, promises of good behavior, serene common sense, anthracite rather than petroleum, care about the finances, no sentimental grievances over suffering nationalities, no Cuban revolutions or annexations, lavish appropriations, and no philosophical illusions that will disturb vested rights. And we shall have a party organization inspired by the fiercest passion known in moral science—such a passion as we read about in buccaneering stories of the Spanish Main; the passion for gold, fired by the knowledge that the treasury is burdened to an overflow with gold.—New York Herald.

The Real Cause.

Our Republican exchanges have been busy for some months constructing acrostics or lines in which the letters of Mr. Blaine's name are made to appear in unexpected places and in impossible connections. It is thought that these acrostics were all sent to Blaine, and that they disturbed the visions of the night as he lay courting sleep. Indeed, his letter of withdrawal may be traced to such a conjunction of the alphabet as occurs in the following acrostic:

Judge Gresham's Decisions,
Allison's Reform Speeches,
Mulligan's Letters,
Edmunds' Indifference,
Solid South,
Grover's Popularity,
Burchard's Brilliancy,
Little Rock Bonds,
Agricultural Opposition,
Independent Republicans,
New York Vote,
Exhausted Magnetism.

Confronted by all these elements, it is not strange that Mr. Blaine read the handwriting on the wall as a warning of coming disaster, and at once telegraphed to Jones to publish his letter of withdrawal.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sheridan Knows Why.

Gen. Sheridan knows that he could not get a Republican nomination if he wanted it, or be elected as a Republican candidate if he had it. He is a Catholic, and that fact in the eyes of nine-tenths of the people who vote the Republican ticket renders him ineligible for the presidency. The knowledge that he would be slaughtered by his own party if he ran is a quite sufficient reason why the party's representatives would refuse to nominate him. All this he knows well. The controlling spirit of Republicanism to-day is the spirit of Knownothingism, which is just as full of rancorous vitality as it ever was when it had the courage to assert itself without an alias or disguise. The party which stands for absolute religious liberty in the United States is the party which Gen. Sheridan, strangely enough, has consistently opposed, the Democracy of Jefferson, of Jackson and Tilden.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Each with His Little Boomlet.

Among the spectators who are noting the points about the booms with especial anxiety are several gentlemen now laboring for the public good at Washington. Their names are Ingalls, Plumb, Anderson, Funston, Ryan and Morrill. Every boom that starts makes one or the other of these statesmen go into his closet and pray.—Kansas City Times.

A Good Platform.

An enthusiastic Republican residing at Springfield, Mo., writes to The Tribune to say that he must have Blaine or nothing. The average Missouri Republican is accustomed to nothing in politics, and he can afford to stand and shout on a platform of this kind.—New York World.

Nobody Anxious About It.

Governor Ormsbee, of Vermont, says that Senator Edmunds "is not likely to permit the use of his name" as a candidate for the presidency. It doesn't appear that anybody is clamoring to use it.—New York Sun.

His Public Record.

John Sherman should not be nominated, and cannot be elected, because his public record has shown that he is unfit for public employment.—New York Star.

All Shout.

For president, Murat Halstead; for vice president, Benny Foraker. Platform, "We done it with our little yelp."—Philadelphia Times.

What West Virginia Will Do.

West Virginia will bury the Republican minority under a mountain of honest ballots.—Wheeling Register.

A Candid Heading.

The Tribune heads its leading editorial, "A Display of Stupidity." This, at least, is candid.—Augusta Chronicle.

Not a Bit.

Sheridan is out of the way, but that doesn't help John Sherman a particle.—New York World.

Frozen Stiff.

It may be that the Bayard boom has gone to find the North Pole, too.—Philadelphia Times.

Keep Right on Running.

The Republican leaders are on the run. Do not let them stop.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Poetic Ecstacy.

Sherman, of Ohio, is willing to try, O!

Another Pipe Line.

It is stated that a syndicate of New York, Toledo, Chicago and Detroit capitalists, representing $25,000,000, has just organized to build a pipe line from the northwestern Ohio oil fields to Toledo, and to erect refineries, so as to compete with the Standard Oil company. They claim to own patents on a new process of refining, and can place the product on the market at a cheaper rate. The capital stock of the new company is $10,000,000.—Frank Leslie's.

We are tardy in suspecting a prosperous man to be a fool.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

AT a late meeting in London, Dr. E. P. Thwing stated that Americans are more susceptible to the influence of alcohol than Englishmen, and that they are more affected by tobacco than the Hollanders, Turks, or Chinese. This he supposes to be due to an increased sensitiveness of the nervous system, induced by the high-pressure life of this country.

THE force popularly believed to be exerted by nitro-glycerine and dynamite, when exploded, is somewhat misestimated. Thus, experiments show that the power developed by the explosion of a ton of dynamite is equal to 46,675 foot-tons; one ton of nitro-glycerine, similarly exploded, will exert a power of 64,452 foot-tons, and one ton of blasting gelatine, similarly exploded, shows a force of 71,050 tons.

A CHEMICAL explanation of Ireland's distress is that it is due to too exclusive subsistence upon potatoes. Though a healthful luxury, this food used alone supplies too little nutrition to support people other than in a half-starved and dissatisfied condition. It is probable, therefore, that Ireland's woes would be greatly reduced if the productive soil and climate were applied to the growth of nutritive cereals instead of the tubers.

INDICATIONS now point to the existence of a submarine volcanic crater between the Canary Islands and the coast of Portugal. From a cable-laying steamer in 39 degrees 25 minutes north, 9 degrees 54 minutes west, the water was found to measure 1300 fathoms under the bow and 800 under the stern, showing the ship to be over the edge of a deep depression in the ocean bottom. The well-known great inequalities in the bed of the Sea of Lisbon are thought to be due to a submarine chain of mountains.

IT is reported that in Peru and other parts of South America this year's fruit has been avoided by birds, while it has caused the death of sheep and cattle when fed to them in large quantities. These observations have been cited as tending to show that the instinct of birds, with respect to the wholesomeness of fruits, is frequently a worthy guide for human beings to follow. The possibility is suggested that the variation in the fruit of different years may have something to do with outbreaks of cholera.

THE human race is not the only one that has the privilege of furnishing centenarians. There are several birds that have the pretension to easily reach the age that Mr. Chevreul has attained. Among the candidates for the prize of longevity, says the Eleveur, must be cited the eagle, the swan, and the raven, which live for over a century. The perroquet, as well as the heron, is content to become a sexagenarian. The sparrowhawk lives to the age of 40, which is the age likewise reached by the duck and pelican. The pea fowl lives to be 25, the crane 24, the linnet 25, the goldfinch 15, the lark 13, the black-headed warbler 15, the blackbird 12, the canary bird 24, the pheasant 15, the thrush 10, the domestic cock 10, the red throat 12, and the wren 3.

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

IT is pretty certain, says the Dominion Mechanical and Milling News, that scores of mill and factory owners throughout the country who have hung hand grenades on their walls as a protection against fire are trusting to a broken reed. How many have given these grenades a thorough testing before purchasing them? At a test made at Cornwall recently, the grenades proved utterly worthless. This is a matter of great importance to owners of mills and factories, and they should lose no time in investigating it.

Twenty odd years ago a kind-hearted old Philadelphia merchant caught the office boy pilfering. He talked to him, prayed with him, gave him another chance, and in time the boy was promoted step by step until he became the most trusted employe. A few days ago it was discovered that the young man had been appropriating $20 a day for twenty years. Some true stories don't seem to have any moral. This one hasn't.—Chicago Times.

BROWN nutmegs from Penang, East Indies, are the best. They are in their natural state, and are so full of oil that it will ooze out if an incision be made. The nutmegs kept by most grocers are the lower grades that are put through a sweating process to remove the oil, and are rolled in lime to cover up all the defects. The best cloves come from Penang, and are sun-dried. Cheaper grades come from Zanzibar, and are kiln-dried, with much of the oil extracted. Ground cloves are adulterated by leaving in the stems. Pimento, or allspice, comes from Jamaica. The best ginger comes from the same place, and is bleached white. Borneo ginger is often chalked to make it look like the bleached article. African ginger is dark in color and poor in quality, but as it is very much cheaper than the other kind it is most used. Ceylon cinnamon is worth $1 a pound, and is very little used. Cassia, the outside bark of the tree, is the substance in general use, and costs about one-tenth of the genuine article.

SKIN SCALP BLOOD.

Having been a sufferer for two years and half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay, (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about Cuticura, and I consented to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the State. The Cuticura Remedies are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith, of Lake Lee, Miss.

ALEXANDER BEACH, Greenville, Miss.

Mr. Beach used the Cuticura Remedies, at our request, with results as above stated.

SAVED MY MOTHER'S LIFE.

Ever since I can remember, my mother has suffered from a milk leg. Nothing would do her any good. She had the best medical talent, but they all did her no good. She suffered with her leg for thirty years and never knew a well day. She would have to sit up half the night, holding up her leg and moaning. She had no peace. She used all the best know remedies in the country without effect. I asked her to try your Cuticura Remedies. Got her a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and she took it, and has taken in all about six or seven bottles and now she is a well woman today. Her leg is entirely healed, and her health was never better. She can go out every day, something she has not done in ten years, so you see I cannot help stating to you about your wonderful Cuticura Remedies. You have saved my mother's life. I cannot find words to express my gratitude. I have advertised your Cuticura Remedies far and near.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze sneeze, sneeze, the acrid watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches.—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

That this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing ecebted, smell at taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved, and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an official form."

L. M. HINTON M. D., Washington, Ark., says "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

No Place Like Home.

That a man's house is his castle is an old and very much battered tradition supposed to be a common law. But the due and full understanding of the precept is not common. It is not always from foes or disturbances without that the castle needs defense, for the inner furnishing and comfort also require to be diligently looked after. When this is done, for "castle" we substitute the word "home." And the home should be in the highest sense the "castle," for man, woman, and child. That good old household word comes to us from the Saxon and the relative languages; and there is no room for doubt that it is a power among all peoples in whose languages the world is at home. An old English poet says, "home is the sacred refuge of life," and no modern poet laureate, or other, has compressed into one line more truth and poetry.

But home is what we make it. It may be a sacred refuge, or it may be a mere place of call for breakfast and dinner, and a shelter for the sleeping hours when there was nothing abroad to keep men awake. It may be destitute of attractions, a tolerated spot instead of a comfortable haven. If this be the case, the fault is with those who, by their conduct, make it uninviting. Home may be a mere prison (well furnished or otherwise) for the women of the household, while the men look abroad for their interests and diversions. If the women do break bounds sometimes and find their amusements abroad, what truant husband has a right to blame a truant wife? And when husbands and wives are runaways, continuing in scarceness, who need be surprised that the children prefer "all outdoors" to all that they can find indoors?

While there has been a tendency among men to seek "club life," and the women have to some degree retaliated by getting up societies of their own, to only some of which the latch-key or other "open sesame," there never was a time when the apparatus for home occupation and enjoyment was more abundant and accessible. Never were dwellings of all grades in expense more comfortable and convenient. Whoever desires to make home attractive, can, with his wife and other women and girls of the household do so. The man is, however, most happy who, at the door as he enters, "relaxes his ponderous strength and leans to hear," and hastens to do whatever the mistress of the castle home directs. We are making no plea, however, for tame and sleepy stay-at-home-itiveness. Go abroad at proper times, men and women, and children too; only make home a nice place and much desired to come back to.

But men, women, and children have different views and pursuits. That is all the better for a union, where neither has anything to conceal.

The strength of a rope is in its many strands, and a united household and a happy one is that in which the thoughts and pursuits of the inmates are well twined together. Well, "everybody concedes that," some one will say. Yes, but if the concession is only in words, commonplace as those expressions are, there are people who do not act their thoughts. The proof of this is found in the daily story of the faults, follies and even crimes of men, high and low, rich and poor, who did not get their first inspiration for evil deeds at home. Certainly there are some wretched homes, where the spirit of evil seems to be in possession. But the members of such households commonly learn their evil out of doors, and their bad proficiency and united experience reverse the line already quoted, and home is a sacred refuge. Of few homes, however, can it be said that there is no good controlling influence in them. And in all homes there is room for a constantly rising appreciation of the sacredness of the earliest bond which binds human beings together—the family tie.—Ledger.

Boils, pimples, hives, ringworm, tetter and all other manifestations of impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MORE than forty years ago, Bjornstjerna, a literary count of Sweden, suggested that, as both poles must have reached a suitable degree of cooling at the same time, the earth might have been peopled from the north pole with its white races, and from the south pole with its colored races.

ST JACOBS OIL

NEURALGIA.

Nerves.—Were it possible to observe the misery of the world in some concrete form, nothing ever conceived would surpass its horrors. Every one of the thread-like nerves have each a latent power to cause excruciating pain, the limit of which is simply the limit of human endurance. Think of the toothache, with a single little nerve at work to drive one crazy; think of NEURALGIA, with a few of these fibrous torments all pulsing painfully at once, and then reflect that at the same moment thousands, tens of thousands, perhaps millions, are suffering alike.

CHARACTERISTICS.

Subtle Pain.—Neuralgic affections are perhaps the most pronounced in the enormous list of aches and pains. Nothing is so subtile in its approach; nothing so flagrant, acute and distressing, and certainly nothing, all the world admits, yet discovered, so completely subdues its ravages and so permanently conquers its pangs as that above mentioned.

SYMPTOMS.

Symptoms.—Neuralgia is defined to be a nerve disease, the chief symptom of which is a very acute pain, intermitting, which follows the course of the nerve branch affected, and which seems therefore to be seated in the nerve. The general symptoms are: Soreness along the nerve; pains alternating between an ache and acute pain. Arising from a disordered stomach, it is often attended by vomiting.

TREATMENT.

Treatment.—Apply ST. JACOBS OIL frequently, gently rubbing the afflicted parts; apply to the whole extent of the nerve soreness; keep up a gentle friction until a burning sensation is produced. Avoid sudden change of temperature.

REPUBLICAN DISINTEGRATION.

The Confusion Resulting From the Blaine Letter—Good Advice to Democrats.

The doubts about the real meaning of Mr. Blaine's recent letter, and its effects upon the Republican party, are far from being cleared up. The expressions of some hundreds of party leaders in various sections of the Union have not marked out a conclusion satisfactory to the reading and thinking rank and file that followed the "Plumed Knight" in 1884. The Democracy are alone serene. Whether Mr. Blaine is to be regarded as finally out of presidential consideration, or as still having the coming Chicago convention in his hands, the Democratic party has the advantage. Mr. Blaine is what the politicians frequently call "burnt powder." He has been before the people and has been defeated, and three years of Democratic rule has not thrown the country into convulsions. We have gone on as prosperously as under any similar period of Republican ascendency.

The Republican party is in no greater demand at the hands of the people than it was in 1884, and Mr. Blaine is in no more aggressive position than he was in that year. Still, a large portion of his party follow him and insist that he must be nominated, notwithstanding his letter. Those who are anxious to accept the Florence manifesto as final and conclusive are unable to concentrate on anybody else. Neither Sherman nor Allison nor Hawley nor Harrison seems to command popular assent, and there is a sadly scattering search for "dark horses."

The general judgment appears to be that the Republican party will be beaten this year, with or without Blaine. It is in a state of disintegration, and while Blaine still seems to be the rallying point, he does not, so far, present the elements of victory. The Republican leaders seem to be afraid to let go of the man who led them to defeat in the last great struggle. They are seriously apprehensive about the deeper sloughs into which he may lead them now, but find it difficult to pick a man who can direct their declining destinies with any greater skill and enthusiasm than they can. The Republicans are floundering without, while the Democrats have the citadel. With judicious management and unity of action the party in power can hold the reins for four years more against any action of the opposition; and "four years more" means a still longer command of the government.

The tide has turned, and while it has not been flowing with that force that to many Jacksonians would have seemed just, it has been gaining, and in the present incoherent condition of Republican politics it seems resistless, whether President Cleveland shall be renominated or the leadership given up to some other Democrat. The party leaders, whatever their divisions may have been in sentiment, have wisely refrained from making war on their own choice in 1884, and have been skillfully placing the party in a position to command the influence of the administration, whoever shall be the nominee. The business of the Democrats now is to stand steadily by their guns and let the other fellows worry.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SHERMAN AND CLARKSON.

One Waves the Bloody Shirt—The Other Goes Back on It.

Mr. Sherman is the foremost representative of the bloody shirt contingent, and his nomination will mean that this issue will be pushed more vehemently than ever by the Republican party. When Mr. Blaine was nominated four years ago, it was certainly his purpose to conduct the campaign on a higher plane than that to which it was lowered before its close. His whole course as a public man gave rise to the hope that he would eschew sectionalism in his campaign for the presidency, and that he would base his candidacy on more solid, substantial and patriotic principles. He undoubtedly entered the contest with this in view, and it was not until he saw that he was conducting what he believed would be a losing fight, that he raised the bloody shirt; and in hopes of turning defeat into victory, waved it before the country with a venom and hostility which surprised even his own support. Instead of the result being as Mr. Blaine desired, it insured his defeat and robbed him of even that kindly feeling which the people of the south had felt for him.

Of those who stood behind Mr. Blaine, holding up his hands and lending every encouragement to his tirade against the south, Mr. John S. Clarkson, editor of The Iowa State Register, and a member of the national Republican executive committee, was among the most prominent. Mr. Clarkson has for years been looked upon as a most bitter, prejudiced, vindictive and acrimonious enemy of the south, which his paper has abused with a venom almost inconceivable in its intensity; and when Mr. Blaine, in desperation, took up the bloody shirt, he did so with the heartiest approval of Mr. Clarkson and his paper.

The country was startled a few weeks ago by the announcement that Mr. Clarkson and The Register had experienced a complete change in sentiment about the bloody shirt. He openly announced that there was no chance of Republican success as things now stood, and that to be successful it was necessary to break the solidity of the south. He believed that this could be done if the Republican party abandoned its position of hostility and broadened its platform; dropping old war issues, and cultivating a friendly feeling with the white people of the south. Since then Mr. Clarkson has been very emphatic in his position on this question, and has continually urged the Republican party to take down the bloody shirt as its standard, and go before the country on live and patriotic issues. * * * If Mr. Clarkson means what he says, he cannot support Mr. Sherman on this issue.—Atlanta Constitution.

Republican Decrease in Michigan.

Had Mr. Blaine waited a few days his Florence message might not have been enlivened by that roseate computation of the increase of his party vote. He would have learned from the election in the Eleventh Michigan district that the same old story is going on—Republican decrease and Democratic growth. From nearly 8,000 majority in 1884, the district has receded to a beggarly 500, and this only after most desperate efforts on the part of the machine.—New York Star.

The Only Sure Way.

Old man Hannibal Hamlin has taken to vaporing in the newspapers. The only way to kill a Maine Republican dead is to nominate him for president.—Atlanta Constitution.

Fish and Fowl.

Undoubtedly the flesh of some fish is poisonous. A fish is said to justify suspicion when it has attained a size unusual for one of its species. This popular idea may have a grain of truth in it. Fish should be discarded if the water in which it is being boiled blackens silver. The coloration is due to hydrogen sulphide (the gas of bad eggs) and indicates putrefactive changes. Decomposing fish has a pale or bluish look. It is withered, sticky to the touch and foul in odor. The seller sometimes tries to hide the evidence of decomposition by taking the eyeballs out and coloring the gills with blood. Fish caught from putrid water should not be eaten. Sometimes, near large manufacturing establishments where a great deal of refuse is thrown into the water, the fish are killed and may be brought to market. The flesh of such fish is yellowish, soft, spongy, and of foul odor. Fish may be divided into those furnishing white and those furnishing red meats. Those of the former class, as the white fish, are delicate and easy of digestion, while those of the second class are richest in nitrogen and more stimulating. Fish should not be left in water after they are dead, but should be packed in ice. Fish should not be the chief flesh diet of people, because it is not sufficiently stimulating. Indeed, it is doubtful if any class of people would voluntarily confine themselves to such food. But the occasional use of fish forms a change which is both agreeable and beneficial. There is no truth in the popular idea that a fish diet is especially suited to the development of the brain and nervous system.

Along with the fish are often classed certain crustateans, as the crab and lobster, and certain molluscs, as the oyster and mussel. The oyster and mussel are gelatinous, but are easily masticated and digested. The lobster, crayfish, and crab are more muscular and are somewhat more difficult of mastication and digestion. The nutritive value of the oyster is not very great, but its delicacy of flavor and ease of digestion make it of great value to all, and especially to the sick. The raw oyster is probably more easily digested than the cooked. The crab and lobster are of considerable nutritive value, though, on account of price, they are used principally as delicacies.

There is no bird that may not be eaten in case of necessity. In other words, the flesh of no bird is in itself poisonous. The same is true of the eggs of all birds. It is true that cases of poisoning from eating quails during spring have occurred, but the poisoning was due to the buds of the mountain laurel, upon which the birds fed. The light meats of birds are more easily digested, less rich in nitrogen and in flavor than dark meats. Chicken broth is more nutritious than that made from either mutton or beef, and is often of great value to the sick.—Housewife.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 47 years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

GEORGIA has one fortune-teller who can be depended on. She is a young girl, and was recently thought to be a gypsy by a widower who was looking for a young wife, and was, therefore anxious to know the future. The girl said she'd tell the past and the future, and, having first received a good fee, she told the man to take off his hat. He did. Then she said: "You took off your hat; you will put it back on. God loves you, and if you don't look sharp the devil will get you." The fortune teller then walked away and left him standing looking "like the boy the calf ran over."

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVeau, 262 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykins, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STREETS AND ALLEYS.

We, your committee on streets and alleys respectfully report:

1. Adverse to the remonstrance of Mary Harber and others, complaining that the opening of said alley between Barthold's addition and the land north would not benefit them any, your committee is of a different opinion; said alley will benefit all bordering thereon and we recommend the report of the city commissioners be accepted. If the assessment of damages and benefits are not quite satisfactory to all parties concerned, it was the duty of said property owners to appear before the commissioners and show cause why they should not be assessed, and not wait until the commissioners report appeared in the council. The commissioners are sworn officers and on their oaths they must assess them according to their opinion and views, and we don't believe the council ought to interfere now. It would be cheaper for the city to pay the $6.00 the party is complaining about then to reject the report of the commissioners.

2. In relation to the vacating of the alley in county addition by consent of all the parties concerned therein, the report to be laid over until the next meeting, the parties having waived in writing any objection to the continuance of the same.

3. Your committee is of the opinion that Columbia street now exists as legally laid out when first dedicated and that if the council desires its full use the proper resolution should be passed for the removal of obstructions and the improvement of said street where necessary.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON GAS AND STREET LIGHTS.

We, your committee on gas and street lights, respectfully report:

1 That we have examined the police report of street lights for the month of January and find it corresponds with the number of hours deducted from the Electric Light company's bill.

2. With reference to the petition of the Duquesne Electric Light Co., asking the privilege to bid for the lighting of the streets, your committee is of the opinion that to advertise and let contract in open market under competition is the proper and only safe plan for the council to act upon. While for several good reasons it may seem in this instance to be to the best interest of the city to renew contract with the Jenny Electric Light company. There are very good and plausable reasons why it should not be done. It opens a way to induce fraud and peculation. It would not not look satisfactory to the tax payer. If the public has absolute confidence in the council, such confidence is no excuse for letting contracts except by advertising and receiving bids. The day may soon come when the dangerous practice of to-day may result in great loss to the city. Therefore your committee would recommend that the usual course of the council be pursued, by properly advertising and receiving bids.

Mr. Kelly Rises to a Question of Personal Privilege—The Proceedings To-Day.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 29.—Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, rising to a question of personal privilege, denied the statement in a Boston paper that he said it would be the policy of the republicans of the house to obstruct the passage of any tariff measure before the meeting of the democratic national convention at St. Louis.

The committee of the whole considered the bill to purchase bonds with the surplus revenue. Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, contended that under the existing law the president might purchase or redeem the bonds and charged that his failure to do so was due to the desire to pile up the surplus in order to scare the country and break down the protective tariff.

Orders were issued here to-day for the discontinuance, after April 1, of signal service stations, at Erie, Pa.; Sandusky, Ohio; Escanaba, Mich., and Lodington, Ky. This action is caused by the depleted condition of the appropriation.

Two Young Women Play the Ghost With Serious Consequences.

HILLSBORO, O., Feb. 29.—Six miles southeast of this place lives William Means, a wealthy farmer. The other evening the young folks of the neighborhood met there at a merrymaking. While the fun was at its height two mischief loving sisters named Stover, thinking only of a little additional sport, left the house and dressed up in ghostly fashion. They wrapped themselves in sheets, put on false faces made of dough, and then burst suddenly in upon the guests. Four young ladies fainted at the sight of the awful apparitions. Two were restored to consciousness without serious trouble, the two others, Misses Dora E. Atkins and Lizzie Chaney, were restored only to pass into a condition of frightful delirium, screaming and crying constantly. The physicians hold but slender hopes of the recovery of their reason.

COY AND BERNHEIMER.

The Application for a Writ of Error Overruled.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 29.—Justice Harlan decided the case of Coy and Bernheimer, convicted of conspiracy to induce election officers to surrender papers, sustaining Judge Woods of the district court.

Justice Harlan overruled the application for a writ of error and refused a new trial. The attorney for the defense is in Chicago and will make immediate application to Judge Gresham for a writ of habeas corpus.

Catawba Indians Want a Share.

CAYANAUGH, Ark., Feb. 29.—A meeting was held here on Saturday by the Western Indian association, the object being to get all persons of pure Indian blood to organize for the purpose of asking congress to set aside for their use a part of the Indian territory, according to the treaty of 1836. A memorial was drawn up setting forth their object, to be presented to each of the five civilized tribes.

A Dying Pauper's Wealth.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Feb. 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney was found in a hovel here yesterday in a dying condition. She was supposed to be a pauper, and had been kept by charities in this city for a number of years, but upon investigation $1,000 in money and notes was found upon her person, and memoranda showen her to be quite rich.

Suing a Treasurer for $17,000.

MARION, Ind., Feb. 29.—The case of the state ex rel., Israel Heaston, auditor of Huntington county, vs. ex-Treasurer Henry Beaver, on his official bond, was commenced here this morning. The amount in dispute is $17,000, which, it is alleged, Beaver failed to pay over to his successor.

The Fire Record.

SALOMANCA, N. Y., Feb. 29.—A fire this morning destroyed the Opera House block, the Nies block, Milenbacker's residence, the Challenge rink, a three-story brick building, Wm. Farquharren's residence and B. E. Tobias' residence. Loss about $75,000; insurance, $35,000.

BIGGER WAGES.

The Employes of the Pennsylvania Company are Granted a Ten Per Cent. Advance.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 29.—The management of the Pennsylvania company this morning replied to the request of the men for an increase of wages. The reply is to the effect that the pay of the employes of the Fort Wayne road and its branches, west of Alliance, is increased ten cents per trip. There is no increase on the Pittsburg division, but the men will be allowed overtime after nine hours.

The conductors will receive twenty-three cents per hour or a fraction thereof, and the brakemen fifteen cents per hour overtime.

CORCORAN'S WILL.

He Leaves His Large Estate to His Grand-Children and Charitable Institutions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The will of the late W. W. Corcoran was offered for probate to-day. The greater portion of his estate, valued at $3,000,000, was bequeathed to three grand-children, George P., Louise M. and William C. Eustis, to be held in trust for them for ten years. Several legacies of four and five thousand dollars are left to other relatives, and similar amounts to various orphan asylums in the district. One hundred thousand dollars is left to the Corcoran art gallery and $50,000 to the Louise home.

NOTORIOUS DUELIST.

The Death of Col. E. B. Cash, Who Killed Four Men in Duels.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 29.—Col. E. B. Cash, the dreaded and "fire-eater," who killed Col. William M. Shannon, a prominent lawyer, in a duel in August, 1880, and who for days defied the entire power of the state to arrest him, died at his home in Chesterfield county, Saturday, of paralysis, aged sixty-six years. He was buried yesterday in the grounds adjoining the Cash mansion, beside the remains of his son, Boggan Cash, a young desperado, who was shot and killed by a sheriff's posse five years ago, while resisting arrest for the murder of the town marshal of Cheraw.

Before the abolition of slavery Col. Cash owned large plantations and several hundred slaves. At the outbreak of the war he was one of the first in the field and commanded the Eighth South Carolina regiment at the first Manassas. He was a bold and desperate fighter. After the war he settled upon his land and planted. He was a great sporting man, and owned fine horses. He had a very quick temper and since the war had killed four men. Two of these were negroes, whom he killed for some slight provocation.

In 1880 Cash fought the duel with Colonel Shannon. The difficulty grew out of a quarrel between the ladies of the two families regarding the division of some property. Colonel Shannon, although an old man, accepted the challenge, and was shot through the heart. The people of the state condemned this duel so severely that shortly afterward the legislature passed the anti-dueling law, putting the duelist on the same footing with an ordinary murderer. The Cash-Shannon duel was therefore the last which will probably be fought in the state.

A Dazzling Hoosier Dude.

New York Morning Journal.

YOUNG PAUL HOLMAN, son of the "great objector" congressman from Indiana, has succeeded Berry as king of the dudes—at this end of the line, at any rate. Mr. Holman's afternoon reception and "tea" attire presents a combination and scenic effect worthy of the gods. Imagine a short, heavy-set young man with dark hair, a ruddy face, a short sandy mustache, blue eyes, a sad, sentimental smile, a large, flaming red necktie, ornamented with a green Brazilian bug and dressed by a black watch cord; a low cut white vest, disclosing a short front of blue and white horizontal bars; a black cutaway coat, striped trousers, of breakfast bacon complexion; patent leather shoes, with cream-colored over-gaiters; tan-colored gloves, a large, curiously-headed cane, a silk hat, and you have the young Hoosier dude. Imagine again this to be the heir of the plain, blunt man known from ocean to ocean as the "Watch dog of the treasury," Great Paul.

Looking for His Mother.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 29.—James Burch, of Cincinnati, was here yesterday in search of his mother, Mrs. Martha Burch, of Cincinnati, who, with three other neices, is heir to $60,000, left by Amelia Wilmore, deceased. He says last Thursday his mother went to Covington, Ky., to take the train to Nicholasville, Ky., and has not been seen since. Mr. Burch thinks she has been foully dealt with. The will provides in the case of the death of a legatee the legacy be divided among the remainder. The names of the other legatees are Mrs. Fielding, Mark Danville, Mrs. Kate Cook, of Anderson county, and Mrs. Hightower, who has since died.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

Overpower an Express Messenger on a Texas Road and Rob the Car of $2,000.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 29.—It is reported that robbers, at 1 o'clock, this morning, overpowered the express messenger on the St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas train, at Kingsland, Ark., and robbed the car of $2,000.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 29.—A Pine Bluff special gives the particulars of the train robbery, at Kingsland. It was done by three men, who captured the engineer and fireman, compelled them to go to the express car and enter. The messenger was then compelled to open the safe. He said they got between $5,000 and $10,000.

DRIVEN OUT OF TOWN.

The Great Jenney Electric Light Works Crowded Out of Fort Wayne.

Ever since Fort Wayne was incorporated it has had to struggle for success and progress against some of its own people. We have given thousands of dollars to secure railroad shops, organized a Business Men's exchange to encourage new industries, the newspapers preach patronage for home merchants and business men the year around, and yet, in the face of these facts, ten councilmen deliberately voted last night to drive and crowd the great Jenney electric light works out of Fort Wayne and throw its 300 employes out of work.

The question arose in this way: The Jenney electric light company proposed a month or more ago to furnish street lights for $135 a lamp per annum.

The Duquesne electric light company, of Pittsburg, two weeks ago, offered to light the city for $125 per lamp. This was after the Jenney bid had been made public, and last night to further humiliate the Jenney company, they offerred to give the city street lamps for $115 each, charging, too, for the six lamps on the court house, that are now given to the city free by the Jenney company.

The whole country is wide for the Jenney and Duquesne companies to compete for electric light contracts, but the foreign company wants to kill the Jenney company at its home and can afford to do so at a loss, just for the advertisement of the thing. All this foreign company needs in Fort Wayne is a room for two engines, new wires and new poles, a night engineer and fireman, two line men and with this plant they want to drain thousands of dollars out of the city and send it to Pittsburg or wherever they belong, or have their material manufactured. None of them live here, none of them pay taxes here, and this is the magnificent reward we are to get for crowding the Jenney company out.

Mr. R. T. McDonald last night withdrew his bid from the council and tendered his resignation as manager of the company unless they remove to Peoria, where he is offered shops and sites and $50,000 bonus to pay the cost of removing the works.

Mr. McDonald left for Peoria this afternoon. He feels sore and justly so. He has labored hard to place the Jenney light all over the country. All their material is made here, all their money from other towns comes into Fort Wayne. Their business is always growing and their employes increasing. To show their light, they must bring visitors to their main shops in this city. What a compliment it would be to have strangers find Fort Wayne lit up with the Duquesne light? What an advertisement it would be for the Jenney company? Of course, they can stand no such treatment and will go where they are appreciated.

Besides losing the Jenney lights, we will lose the Star iron towers, because the home company alone has the right to use them.

Another thing is that the engines and iron appliances used by the Jenney company all over the United States are made at the Bass foundry in this city and workmen reap the benefits.

Mr. Louis Rastetter has been enabled, also, to increase the capacity of his factory, on Broadway, by receiving the wood work contracts from the Jenney company.

All of these advantages we lose through a mistaken idea of economy.

AN INDIGNATION MEETING.

At the request of Mr. Fred Eckert and other prominent citizens Mr. G. W. Seavy will call a meeting of the Business Men's Exchange for to-morrow night to express condemnation of the way in which the Jenney company has been treated.

Gold Found at Hartford City.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Feb. 29.—Yesterday the city was thrown into great excitement by the report that the drillers in gas well No. 4, situated in the edge of the city, had struck a vein of gold, which gave indications of growing richer as the drill penetrated the earth. The Indianapolis News correspondent examined a specimen of the ore through a glass and found it to be undoubtedly gold ore. Old 49er's here, who dug gold in California, bear out the statement. The work of drilling goes rapidly on, and further developments are awaited with patience.

Mr. W. S. Dodge has returned from a special run as chair car conductor on the Grand Rapids road.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

The Sentinel Scribe Skips Over His Route and Gathers the News Hurriedly.

The Pittsburg shop clerks have sent in their monthly reports for February.

The traveling auditor of the Wabash called on Ticket Agent J. M. McConnell yesterday.

There are 128 engines running on the Pittsburg road between Chicago and Crestline.

Herbert J. Law, of the Jenney Electric-light works, left for New Orleans last night.

The strike on the Burlington continues to be the topic of conversation in railroad circles.

H. E. Conkling, of Toledo, traveling agent of the Nickel Plate, was in the city last evening.

The Kunkle Safety-valve works are so rushed with work now that a night force is kept busy.

The machine shops of the Bass works are so rushed with work that they are still running a night force.

Mr. Charles Bulger, the pleasant shipping clerk at A. C. Trentman's, has returned from a trip to Chicago.

Several of the employes of the Pittsburg boiler shops are off duty, on account of sickness and other causes.

Will Seward, Charles Cherry and J. H. Hobrake, of the Pittsburg offices, report having had a jolly time at Chicago.

There is anxiety felt among the officials of the Pennsylvania company in reference to the rumors of a strike among their engineers.

The freight offices here have not taken any freight yesterday or to-day for points on the C., B. & Q., on account of the strike on that road.

A ventilator is being put in the upper room of the Pittsburg car shops. The heat is so oppressive the men can hardly enter the boiler rooms.

The Pittsburg works is the busiest manufacturing industry in the city and will be crowded with work during the whole of the present year.

The moulding rooms of the Bass foundry under charge of Foreman Frank Finke and Fred Myers were not in operation to-day and the employes enjoyed a vacation.

Some sneaking rascal stole the box of carpenter tools from the Wabash depot, belonging to Michael Huntine, of the pumping force. The box contained tools valued at $35.

The boys in the Pittsburg shops—many of them, at least,—take to dogs and guns. The latest on the list is Willis Anderson, who has become the owner of a valuable Newfoundland.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary of the B. R. Y. M. C. A., will be held at the parlors of the R. R. Dept., 245 Calhoun street, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, city time. A full attendance is desired.

The Pittsburg company have an employe here who is investigating the cause of the delay of some of the trains at this point. It is said the limited is kept here eight minutes when the time should be only five. The expert will find out where the fault is and it will probably be remedied.

Richard Bryant, the foreman of the core rooms at the Bass foundry, left to-day, for Rock Run, Ala., to spend a few weeks visiting his brother, William, who lives there. "Dick" will make a general tour of observation and give the boys a vivid description of the alligators that infest that region of the country when he returns.

Supt. Amaden, of the Lake Shore, denies the current reports that there was trouble brewing among the engineers of the Vanderbilt lines. Some time ago the pay of the engineers on the Chicago division was increased, the result of a peaceful conference, and since then—this was in November—there had been absolutely no jar or dissatisfaction in any direction.

"Express business is pretty lively," said Mr. J. N. Havens, the clerk at the Adams Express company's office, this morning, when a SENTINEL reporter accosted him; but that was not the cause of the smile that played around his lips as he answered the question. From another source we learned a sweet-faced little girl baby had arrived at his house, and this accounted for Mr. Havens' happiness.

General McNulta, of the Wabash, in reference to the strike on the Burlington road, said that the question was presented to him for settlement about six months ago. At first he was inclined to resist the demand, but upon further consideration, taking into view the conservative character of the Brotherhood and the fact that the question of classification had been discussed and passed upon in the national convention, and that the members were earnestly persuaded of the justice of their position, he had made the concessions asked. The general was somewhat annoyed at a report which had reached him that some Burlington official had declared that he was responsible in some unknown way for the trouble, and vigorously and unqualifiedly repudiated any such responsibility, even in the most remote manner.

The Wayne hotel will not be opened until Saturday. Its inaugural will be a gala one.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 29, 1888.

ATTENTION is drawn to the enormous increase in the number of rats in the cellars and sewers of Paris. The sewer men readily catch them alive as they crawl along the walls, and when the men come up into the street after a day's work, each has a rat with a string tied to its tail marching along the flags, followed by a regiment of volunteer dogs. The gamins fish the rats readily at the mouths of sewers, and, by skinning them while warm, can make five sous per dozen skins, which are ultimately converted into kid gloves for dolls and materials for toys.

ELECTRICITY is now being used in Paris to enable persons of wealth at select dinner parties to do without the waiter or the maitre d'hote. A miniature railway is laid down on the dinner-table and continued on the same level into the kitchen through an aperture in the wall and an intermediate pantry. Dishes come in, and, after making the round of the table, go out in a sort of small truck moved by electricity. The truck, at any moment, can be made to stop. It does its work admirably as a dumb waiter, and any amount of art may be lavished on it to give it artistic beauty.

A MOST peculiar case of superstition exists in York Township, Ohio. A well-known farmer named Milar has always kept a fine lot of cows and made a great deal of most excellent butter. Of late years he has had what he terms it, "Witches in the cream," giving himself and family a great deal of trouble and great loss. It happens about every two weeks when they put the cream in the churn it begins foaming over the top and refuses to gather. No amount of churning has any effect toward gathering the butter, and the cream is taken out and thrown far away. The family attributes the trouble to witches brought on through the agency of a woman in the neighborhood through spite. It is a strange case.

A SURVEYOR who was in the woods near Orlando, Fla., during a thunder-storm, took shelter under a tree, leaving his compass on a jack-staff, some two or three hundred yards away. During the storm a tree very near the compass was struck by lightning, and the effect upon the compass was to reverse it so as to make the north point of the needle change position and point south. The gentleman, when he went back to the compass, took a sight and started, as he thought, for home. After walking eight or ten miles, going north, as the compass indicated, he came to the house of an old settler, who, upon inquiry, told him where he was and how far from Orlando, and the proper direction, which, of course, was exactly opposite to that indicated by his compass.

ACTING CONSUL HORNSTEDT, of Moscow, has made a report to the Department of State in regard to an important invention recently patented by a Russian subject, and now being successfully worked in Russia. He says:

□The invention consists of a method to produce iron and steel direct from the ore. The whole secret of the process is in the construction of the furnace, which is simple and inexpensive. It will be difficult for our iron-masters to believe that under the new process iron ore, after submitting it to the ordinary smelting process, is taken direct from the furnace to the rolling-mill and turned into sheet iron; yet such is the case, there being, to my certain knowledge, three furnaces in this country now in full operation and working with great success. There can be but little doubt that this new invention will create a revolution in the manufacture of charcoal iron. Whether the process can be used with equal advantage where coke is the fuel I can not positively assert, as the furnaces I refer to are worked with charcoal. I am, however, assured that an experiment made with coke was crowned with equal success.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle

Blaine and the Republican Party.

The possibility of Blaine meant the ascendancy of daring, uncertainty, adventure, inventive genius, the policy of dazzling government by lightning flashes; pottering over Chili and Peru, and those lazy, half clothed, greasy communities near the Equator, who live on bananas, doze in the sand and think they are republics; governing by sensation, one surprise following another, and resulting either in marvelous triumphs or ignominious, irritrievable ruin. This was what we were to have in Blaine, and the fascination involved in such a policy of fancy and caprice, this wooden nutmeg Bonapartism, was among the sources of his strength. We shall have, on the contrary, in Republican policy, promises of good behavior, serene common sense, anthracite rather than petroleum, care about the finances, no sentimental grievances over suffering nationalities, no Cuban revolutions or annexations, lavish appropriations, and no philosophical illusions that will disturb vested rights. And we shall have a party organization inspired by the fiercest passion known in moral science—such a passion as we read about in buccaneering stories of the Spanish Main; the passion for gold, fired by the knowledge that the treasury is burdened to an overflow with gold.—New York Herald.

The Real Cause.

OUR Republican exchanges have been busy for some months constructing acrostics or lines in which the letters of Mr. Blaine's name are made to appear in unexpected places and in impossible connections. It is thought that these acrostics were all sent to Blaine, and that they disturbed the visions of the night as he lay courting sleep. Indeed, his letter of withdrawal may be traced to such a conjunction of the alphabet as occurs in the following acrostic:

Judge Gresham's Decisions,
Allison's Reform Speeches,
Mulligan's Letters,
Edmunds' Indifference,

Confronted by all these elements, it is not strange that Mr. Blaine read the handwriting on the wall as a warning of coming disaster, and at once telegraphed to Jones to publish his letter of withdrawal.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sheridan Knows Why.

Gen. Sheridan knows that he could not get a Republican nomination if he wanted it, or be elected as a Republican candidate if he had it. He is a Catholic, and that fact in the eyes of nine-tenths of the people who vote the Republican ticket renders him ineligible for the presidency. The knowledge that he would be slaughtered by his own party if he ran is a quite sufficient reason why the party's representatives would refuse to nominate him. All this he knows well. The controlling spirit of Republicanism to-day is the spirit of Knownothingism, which is just as full of rancorous vitality as it ever was when it had the courage to assert itself without an alias or disguise. The party which stands for absolute religious liberty in the United States is the party which Gen. Sheridan, strangely enough, has consistently opposed, the Democracy of Jefferson, of Jackson and Tilden.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Each with His Little Boomlet.

Among the spectators who are noting the points about the booms with especial anxiety are several gentlemen now laboring for the public good at Washington. Their names are Ingalls, Plumb, Anderson, Funston, Ryan and Morrill. Every boom that starts makes one or the other of these statesmen go into his closet and pray.—Kansas City Times.

A Good Platform.

An enthusiastic Republican residing at Springfield, Mo., writes to The Tribune to say that he must have Blaine or nothing. The average Missouri Republican is accustomed to nothing in politics, and he can afford to stand and shout on a platform of this kind.—New York World.

Nobody Anxious About It.

Governor Ormsbee, of Vermont, says that Senator Edmunds "is not likely to permit the use of his name" as a candidate for the presidency. It doesn't appear that anybody is clamoring to use it.—New York Sun.

His Public Record.

John Sherman should not be nominated, and cannot be elected, because his public record has shown that he is unfit for public employment.—New York Star.

All Shout.

For president, Murat Halstead; for vice president, Benny Foraker. Platform, "We done it with our little yelp."—Philadelphia Times.

What West Virginia Will Do.

West Virginia will bury the Republican minority under a mountain of honest ballots.—Wheeling Register.

A Candid Heading.

The Tribune heads its leading editorial, "A Display of Stupidity." This, at least, is candid.—Augusta Chronicle.

Not a Hit.

Sheridan is out of the way, but that doesn't help John Sherman a particle.—New York World.

Frozen Stiff.

It may be that the Bayard boom has gone to find the North Pole, too.—Philadelphia Times.

Keep Right on Running.

The Republican leaders are on the run. Do not let them stop.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Poetic Ecstacy.

Blaine, of Maine, will not run again;
Sherman, of Ohio, is willing to try, O!
—Cleveland Leader (Rep).

Another Pipe Line.

It is stated that a syndicate of New York, Toledo, Chicago and Detroit capitalists, representing $25,000,000, has just organized to build a pipe line from the northwestern Ohio oil fields to Toledo, and to erect refineries, so as to compete with the Standard Oil company. They claim to own patents on a new process of refining, and can place the product on the market at a cheaper rate. The capital stock of the new company is $10,000,000. —Frank Leslie's.

We are hardly in suspecting a prosperous man to be a fool.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

At a late meeting in London, Dr. R. P. Thwing stated that Americans are more susceptible to the influence of alcohol than Englishmen, and that they are more affected by tobacco than the Hollanders, Turks, or Chinese. This he supposes to be due to an increased sensitiveness of the nervous system, induced by the high-pressure life of this country.

THE force popularly believed to be exerted by nitro-glycerine and dynamite, when exploded, is somewhat misestimated. Thus, experiments show that the power developed by the explosion of a ton of dynamite is equal to 46,675 foot-tons; one ton of nitro-glycerine, similarly exploded, will exert a power of 64,452 foot-tons, and one ton of blasting gelatine, similarly exploded, shows a force of 71,050 tons.

A CHEMICAL explanation of Ireland's distress is that it is due to too exclusive subsistence upon potatoes. Though a healthful luxury, this food used alone supplies too little nutrition to support people other than in a half-starved and dissatisfied condition. It is probable, therefore, that Ireland's woes would be greatly reduced if the productive soil and climate were applied to the growth of nutritive cereals instead of the tubers.

INDICATIONS now point to the existence of a submarine volcanic crater between the Canary Islands and the coast of Portugal. From a cable-laying steamer in 39 degrees 25 minutes north, 9 degrees 54 minutes west, the water was found to measure 1200 fathoms under the bow and 800 under the stern, showing the ship to be over the edge of a deep depression in the ocean bottom. The well-known great inequalities in the bed of the Sea of Lisbon are thought to be due to a submarine chain of mountains.

IT is reported that in Peru and other parts of South America this year's fruit has been avoided by birds, while it has caused the death of sheep and cattle when fed to them in large quantities. These observations have been cited as tending to show that the instinct of birds, with respect to the wholesomeness of fruits, is frequently a worthy guide for human beings to follow. The possibility is suggested that the variation in the fruit of different years may have something to do with outbreaks of cholera.

THE human race is not the only one that has the privilege of furnishing centenarians. There are several birds that have the pretension to easily reach the age that Mr. Chevreul has attained. Among the candidates for the prize of longevity, says the Elsewur, must be cited the eagle, the swan, and the raven, which live for over a century. The perroquet, as well as the heron, is content to become a sexagenarian. The sparrowhawk lives to the age of 40, which is the age likewise reached by the duck and pelican. The pea fowl lives to be 25, the crane 24, the linnet 25, the goldfinch 15, the lark 18, the black-headed warbler 15, the blackbird 12, the canary bird 24, the pheasant 15, the thrush 10, the domestic cock 10, the red throat 12, and the wren 3.

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

IT is pretty certain, says the Dominion Mechanical and Milling News, that scores of mill and factory owners throughout the country who have hung hand grenades on their walls as a protection against fire are trusting to a broken reed. How many have given these grenades a thorough testing before purchasing them? At a test made at Cornwall recently, the grenades proved utterly worthless. This is a matter of great importance to owners of mills and factories, and they should lose no time in investigating it.

Twenty odd years ago a kind-hearted old Philadelphia merchant caught the office boy pilfering. He talked to him, prayed with him, gave him another chance, and in time the boy was promoted step by step until he became the most trusted employe. A few days ago it was discovered that the young man had been appropriating $20 a day for twenty years. Some true stories don't seem to have any moral. This one hasn't.—Chicago Times.

BROWN nutmegs from Penang, East Indies, are the best. They are in their natural state, and are so full of oil that it will ooze out if an incision be made. The nutmegs kept by most grocers are the lower grades that are put through a sweating process to remove the oil, and are rolled in lime to cover up all the defects. The best cloves come from Penang, and are sun-dried. Cheaper grades come from Zanzibar, and are kiln-dried, with much of the oil extracted. Ground cloves are adulterated by leaving in the stems. Pimento, or allspice, comes from Jamaica. The best ginger comes from the same place, and is bleached white. Borneo ginger is often chalked to make it look like the bleached article. African ginger is dark in color and poor in quality, but as it is very much cheaper than the other kind it is most used. Ceylon cinnamon is worth $1 a pound, and is very little used. Cassia, the outside bark of the tree, is the substance in general use, and costs about one-tenth of the genuine article.

SKIN SO ALP BLOOD.

Having been a sufferer for two years and half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay, (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about Cuticura, and I consented to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my suffering and spring from of any one in the State. The Cuticura Remedies are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith, of Lake Lee, Miss.

ALEXIS DEBACH, Greenville, Miss.

Mr. Beach used the Cuticura Remedies, at our request, with results as above stated.

SAVED MY MOTHER'S LIFE.

Ever since I can remember, my mother has suffered from a milk leg. Nothing would do her any good. She had the best medical talent, but they all did her no good. She suffered with her leg for thirty years and never knew a well day. She would have to sit up half the night, holding up her leg and moaning. She had no peace. She used all the best known remedies in the country without effect. I asked her to try your Cuticura Remedies. Got her a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and she took it, and has taken in all about six or seven bottles and now she is a well woman today. Her leg is entirely healed, and her health was never better. She can go out every day, something she has not done in ten years, so you see I cannot help stating to you about your wonderful Cuticura Remedies. You have saved my mother's life. I cannot find words to express my gratitude. I have advertised your Cuticura Remedies far and near.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, cause hacking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches, how familiar to persons are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh is a vast but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing deadened, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated, and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, price $1. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for as such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late Thos. H. Powers, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. Hinton M. D., Washington, Ark., says "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an effective remedy.

No Place Like Home.

That a man's house is his castle is an old and very much battered tradition supposed to be a common law. But the due and full understanding of the precept is not common. It is not always from foes or disturbances without that the castle needs defense, for the inner furnishing and comfort also require to be diligently looked after. When this is done, for "castle" we substitute the word "home." And the home should be in the highest sense the "castle," for man, woman, and child. That good old household word comes to us from the Saxon and the relative languages; and there is no room for doubt that it is a power among all peoples in whose languages the world is at home. An old English poet says, "home is the sacred refuge of life," and no modern poet laureate, or other, has compressed into one line more truth and poetry.

But home is what we make it. It may be a sacred refuge, or it may be a mere place of call for breakfast and dinner, and a shelter for the sleeping hours when there was nothing abroad to keep men awake. It may be destitute of attractions, a tolerated spot instead of a comfortable haven. If this be the case, the fault is with those who, by their conduct, make it uninviting. Home may be a mere prison (well furnished or otherwise) for the women of the household, while the men look abroad for their interests and diversions. If the women do break bounds sometimes and find their amusements abroad, what truant husband has a right to blame a truant wife? And when husbands and wives are runs-gates, continuing in scarceness, who need be surprised that the children prefer "all outdoors" to all that they can find indoors?

While there has been a tendency among men to seek "club life," and the women have to some degree retaliated by getting up societies of their own, to only some of which the latch-key or other "open sesame," there never was a time when the apparatus for home occupation and enjoyment was more abundant and accessible. Never were dwellings of all grades in expense more comfortable and convenient. Whoever desires to make home attractive, can, with his wife and other women and girls of the household do so. The man is, however, most happy who, at the door as he enters, "relaxes his ponderous strength and leans to hear," and hastens to do whatever the mistress of the castle home directs. We are making no plea, however, for tame and sleepy stay-at-home-itiveness. Go abroad at proper times, men and women, and children too; only make home a nice place and much desired to come back to.

But men, women, and children have different views and pursuits. That is all the better for a union, where neither has anything to conceal.

The strength of a rope is in its many strands, and a united household and a happy one is that in which the thoughts and pursuits of the inmates are well twined together. Well, "everybody concedes that," some one will say. Yes, but if the concession is only in words, commonplace as those expressions are, there are people who do not set their thoughts. The proof of this is found in the daily story of the faults, follies and even crimes of men, high and low, rich and poor, who did not get their first inspiration for evil deeds at home. Certainly there are some wretched homes, where the spirit of evil seems to be in possession. But the members of such households commonly learn their evil out of doors, and their bad proficiency and united experience reverse the line already quoted, and home is a sacred refuge. Of few homes, however, can it be said that there is no good controlling influence in them. And in all homes there is room for a constantly rising appreciation of the sacredness of the earliest bond which binds human beings together—the family tie.—Ledger.

Boils, pimples, hives, ringworm, tetter and all other manifestations of impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

More than forty years ago, Bjornstjarna, a literary count of Swoden, suggested that, as both poles must have reached a suitable degree of cooling at the same time, the earth might have been peopled from the north pole with its white races, and from the south pole with its colored races.

ST. JACOBS OIL

NEURALGIA.

Nerves.—Were it possible to observe the misery of the world in some concrete form, nothing ever conceived would surpass its horrors. Every one of the thread-like nerves have each a latent power to cause excruciating pain, the limit of which is simply the limit of human endurance. Think of the toothache, with a single little nerve at work to drive one crazy; think of Neuralgia, with a few of these fibrous torments all pulsing painfully at once, and then reflect that at the same moment thousands, tens of thousands, perhaps millions, are suffering alike.

CHARACTERISTICS.

Subtile Pain.—Neuralgic affections are perhaps the most pronounced in the enormous list of aches and pains. Nothing is so subtile in its approach; nothing so flagrant, acute and distressing, and certainly nothing, all the world admits, yet discovered, so completely subdues its ravages and so permanently conquers its pangs as that above mentioned.

SYMPTOMS.

Symptoms.—Neuralgia is defined to be a nerve disease, the chief symptom of which is a very acute pain, intermitting, which follows the course of the nerve branch affected, and which seems therefore to be seated in the nerve. The general symptoms are: Soreness along the nerve; pains alternating between an ache and acute pain. Arising from a disordered stomach, it is often attended by vomiting.

TREATMENT.

Treatment.—Apply ST. JACOBS OIL frequently, gently rubbing the afflicted parts; apply to the whole extent of the nerve soreness; keep up a gentle friction until a burning sensation is produced. Avoid sudden change of temperature.

REPUBLICAN DISINTEGRATION.

The Confusion Resulting From the Blaine Letter—Good Advice to Democrats.

The doubts about the real meaning of Mr. Blaine's recent letter, and its effects upon the Republican party, are far from being cleared up. The expressions of some hundreds of party leaders in various sections of the Union have not marked out a conclusion satisfactory to the reading and thinking rank and file that followed the "Plumed Knight" in 1884. The Democracy are alone serene. Whether Mr. Blaine is to be regarded as finally out of presidential consideration, or as still having the coming Chicago convention in his hands, the Democratic party has the advantage. Mr. Blaine is what the politicians frequently call "burnt powder." He has been before the people and has been defeated, and three years of Democratic rule has not thrown the country into convulsions. We have gone on as prosperously as under any similar period of Republican ascendency.

The Republican party is in no greater demand at the hands of the people than it was in 1884, and Mr. Blaine is in no more aggressive position than he was in that year. Still, a large portion of his party follow him and insist that he must be nominated, notwithstanding his letter. Those who are anxious to accept the Florence manifesto as final and conclusive are unable to concentrate on anybody else. Neither Sherman nor Allison nor Hawley nor Harrison seems to command popular assent, and there is a sadly scattering search for "dark horses."

The general judgment appears to be that the Republican party will be beaten this year, with or without Blaine. It is in a state of disintegration, and while Blaine still seems to be the rallying point, he does not, so far, present the elements of victory. The Republican leaders seem to be afraid to let go of the man who led them to defeat in the last great struggle. They are seriously apprehensive about the deeper sloughs into which he may lead them now, but find it difficult to pick a man who can direct their declining destinies with any greater skill and enthusiasm than they can. The Republicans are floundering without, while the Democrats have the citadel. With judicious management and unity of action the party in power can hold the reins for four years more against any action of the opposition; and "four years more" means a still longer command of the government.

The tide has turned, and while it has not been flowing with that force that to many Jacksonians would have seemed just, it has been gaining, and in the present incoherent condition of Republican politics it seems resistless, whether President Cleveland shall be renominated or the leadership given up to some other Democrat. The party leaders, whatever their divisions may have been in sentiment, have wisely refrained from making war on their own choice in 1884, and have been skillfully placing the party in a position to command the influence of the administration, whoever shall be the nominee. The business of the Democrats now is to stand steadily by their guns and let the other fellows worry.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SHERMAN AND CLARKSON.

One Waves the Bloody Shirt—The Other Goes Back on It.

Mr. Sherman is the foremost representative of the bloody shirt contingent, and his nomination will mean that this issue will be pushed more vehemently than ever by the Republican party. When Mr. Blaine was nominated four years ago, it was certainly his purpose to conduct the campaign on a higher plane than that to which it was lowered before its close. His whole course as a public man gave rise to the hope that he would eschew sectionalism in his campaign for the presidency, and that he would base his candidacy on more solid, substantial and patriotic principles. He undoubtedly entered the contest with this in view, and it was not until he saw that he was conducting what he believed would be a losing fight, that he raised the bloody shirt; and in hopes of turning defeat into victory, waved it before the country with a venom and hostility which surprised even his own support. Instead of the result being as Mr. Blaine desired, it insured his defeat and robbed him of even that kindly feeling which the people of the south had felt for him.

Of those who stood behind Mr. Blaine, holding up his hands and lending every encouragement to his tirade against the south, Mr. John S. Clarkson, editor of The Iowa State Register, and a member of the national Republican executive committee, was among the most prominent. Mr. Clarkson has for years been looked upon as a most bitter, prejudiced, vindictive and acrimonious enemy of the south, which his paper has abused with a venom almost inconceivable in its intensity; and when Mr. Blaine, in desperation, took up the bloody shirt, he did so with the heartiest approval of Mr. Clarkson and his paper.

The country was startled a few weeks ago by the announcement that Mr. Clarkson and The Register had experienced a complete change in sentiment about the bloody shirt. He openly announced that there was no chance of Republican success as things now stood, and that to be successful it was necessary to break the solidity of the south. He believed that this could be done if the Republican party abandoned its position of hostility and broadened its platform; dropping old war issues, and cultivating a friendly feeling with the white people of the south. Since then Mr. Clarkson has been very emphatic in his position on this question, and has continually urged the Republican party to take down the bloody shirt as its standard, and go before the country on live and patriotic issues. * * * If Mr. Clarkson means what he says, he cannot support Mr. Sherman on this issue.—Atlanta Constitution.

Republican Decrease in Michigan.

Had Mr. Blaine waited a few days his Florence message might not have been enlivened by that rosecate computation of the increase of his party vote. He would have learned from the election in the Eleventh Michigan district that the same old story is going on—Republican decrease and Democratic growth. From nearly 8,000 majority in 1884, the district has receded to a beggarly 500, and this only after most desperate efforts on the part of the machine.—New York Star.

The Only Sure Way.

Old man Hannibal Hamlin has taken to vaporing in the newspapers. The only way to kill a Maine Republican dead is to nominate him for president.—Atlanta Constitution.

Fish and Fowl.

Undoubtedly the flesh of some fish is poisonous. A fish is said to justify suspicion when it has attained a size unusual for one of its species. This popular idea may have a grain of truth in it. Fish should be discarded if the water in which it is being boiled blackens silver. The coloration is due to hydrogen sulphide (the gas of bad eggs) and indicates putrefactive changes. Decomposing fish has a pale or bluish look. It is withered, sticky to the touch and foul in odor. The seller sometimes tries to hide the evidence of decomposition by taking the eyeballs out and coloring the gills with blood. Fish caught from putrid water should not be eaten. Sometimes, near large manufacturing establishments where a great deal of refuse is thrown into the water, the fish are killed and may be brought to market. The flesh of such fish is yellowish, soft, spongy, and of foul odor. Fish may be divided into those furnishing white and those furnishing red meats. Those of the former class, as the white fish, are delicate and easy of digestion, while those of the second class are richest in nitrogen and more stimulating. Fish should not be left in water after they are dead, but should be packed in ice. Fish should not be the chief flesh diet of people, because it is not sufficiently stimulating. Indeed, it is doubtful if any class of people would voluntarily confine themselves to such food. But the occasional use of fish forms a change which is both agreeable and beneficial. There is no truth in the popular idea that a fish diet is especially suited to the development of the brainand nervous system.

Along with the fish are often classed certain crustaceans, as the crab and lobster, and certain molluscs, as the oyster and mussel. The oyster and mussel are gelatinous, but are easily masticated and digested. The lobster, crayfish, and crab are more muscular and are somewhat more difficult of mastication and digestion. The nutritive value of the oyster is not very great, but its delicacy of flavor and ease of digestion make it of great value to all, and especially to the sick. The raw oyster is probably more easily digested than the cooked. The crab and lobster are of considerable nutritive value, though, on account of price, they are used principally as delicacies.

There is no bird that may not be eaten in case of necessity. In other words, the flesh of no bird is in itself poisonous. The same is true of the eggs of all birds. It is true that cases of poisoning from eating quails during spring have occurred, but the poisoning was due to the buds of the mountain laurel, upon which the birds fed. The light meats of birds are more easily digested, less rich in nitrogen and in flavor than dark meats. Chicken broth is more nutritious than that made from either mutton or beef, and is often of great value to the sick.—Housewife.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 47 years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Georgia has one fortune-teller who can be depended on. She is a young girl, and was recently thought to be a gypsy by a widower who was looking for a young wife, and was, therefore anxious to know the future. The girl said she'd tell the past and the future, and, having first received a good fee, she told the man to take off his hat. He did. Then she said: "You took off your hat; you will put it back on. God loves you, and if you don't look sharp the devil will get you." The fortune teller then walked away and left him standing looking "like the boy the calf ran over."

Tenderness makes a woman grateful; a noble manhood compels all her deep instincts of love.—Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVeau, 202 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykins, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 21 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect.
